HISTORY OF THE SENIOR CLASS

Company halt ! ! About face ! ! Seniors—at ease ! - The dress parade is soon to take place, You are to review the troops, to refresh your memories of the unforgettable experiences of the past five years. The parade is almost here. Here it is! With General Ready in command of the troops, we shall begin.

First, the Rookies of 1938-39 appear—they are all out of step and are very ignorant of the school rules and regulations. They are under the command of Captain Jennings Mangum with First Lieutenant Katherine Elmore and Second Lieutenant George Valentine to aid him.

The Parent Teachers Association graciously entertained them with a delightful party in the gymnasium. Later, they, the Freshman class, enjoyed an informal dance given by themselves. These social activities did wonders in building up their very low morale.

Next come the Privates First Class of the Sophmores of Company 1939-40 with Lee Stevens in command and First Lieutenant Carolyn Johnson and the Second Lieutenant Dot Turner and Margaret Winslow following after her. Captain Margaret Fountain and the Lieutenants Neill Nelson, Edgar Lambert, and Flake Chipley are given charge of things during the second semester.

During this year they learn about many of the old tricks of their dear Alma Mater (such as A. W. O. L.). Yes, they think that it is something to do these tricks, but what about when General Ready catches up with them?

The men of the following Company of 1940-41 have a dazed and bewildered expression on their faces. They are not sure of their rank, being neither Sophmores nor Juniors just plain Tenth Graders. They are beginning to feel important and are showing a definite interest in the W. A. A. C. S and the W. A. V. E. S of their group. They are beginning to be a real asset to the school.

Another company—The Eleventh grade of 1941-42 is now passing the reviewing stand. This is one Company that they shall well remember. As Juniors they need no recalling of how they struggled through that year. Vigorously they sold subscriptions in order to be successful in their magazine campaign. They are very proud of themselves for earning more money for the Junior-Senior dance than any other Junior class. Through most of their minds, "The Junior-Senior is a week off; it is tomorrow night; it is tonight" is constantly running. Happily they dance that wonderful night away.

Captain Ben Mayo, with the Lieutenants Neill Nelson, Nancy Dozier, and Betty Murchison, lead us first. When they are exhausted, Bill Thorp, Clara Fenner, Ann Larkin, and Jack Taylor command or take charge during the second semester.

Since December 7, 1942, many of the noble Commandos have left the passing parade to fight for Uncle Sam. This reduces the number of Juniors, but the ones at home are proud of their heroic deeds.

Now—last, but not least in any way, comes the pride and joy of this parade; it is the Senior Class of 1942-43.

Captain Jimmie Exum starts off in command of Company 1942-43. As fellow officers, Needham Carter, Alton Johnson, and Edith Mooring are there to aid him. Ben Mayo commands throughout the second semester with Lieutenants Jean Williams, Harvey Thomas, and Carson Dunning to help him.

Their heads are held high as they take on the responsibilities that they should; they have worked hard and faithful; and yet, they realize how much more they could have done when is too late to do anything about it. These wonderful and treasured years have now come to an end, and they, the Seniors, must leave their dear Alma Mater to go into such a confused and war torn world. Proudly they march by ending this parade; proudly they march, looking forward to a bright and glorious future some day.

By Edith Mooring

PROPHECY - 1953

Good evening, Ladies and Gentlemen of the Radio audience! This is your own news commentator, Mana Burnett, bringing you the outstanding news events of the week. Tonight, I am especially privileged to be broadcasting from the immense auditorium of the Rocky Mount High School, in Rocky Mount, North Carolina. Here are gathered the alumni of the Class of '43 for their tenth anniversary. This is one of the most outstanding gatherings of the age, because the Nation feels that it is the most spectacular class in its history. The majority of its members are now famous and outstanding in their fields of work. I am especially proud to be able to broadcast this meeting to the world because I was a member of that class.

One of the first members of this class to arrive was Bobby Rawls, a very prominent figure at the World Peace Conference nine years ago. He has been asked by Norman Chambliss, head of the New York Stock Exchange, to accompany him on a trip to the Orient on a secret mission, involving a plan to make stocks go up.

Joyce Page, originator of the popular, "Date While You Wait Bureau" came in with Mavis Bunn, dietitian for the United States Army, responsible for the prime physical condition of our standing army.

There's Horace Felton, who made several millions playing professional basketball. He has just endowed the Rocky Mount High School with a new swimming pool.

Coming down the aisle toward the stage is the famous and popular orchestra leader, Harry Andrews, and his lovely Orchestra Wife, Blanche Walker. There's his "Blues" singer, Doris Daughtridge, who made the current song, "Bath Tub Blues", famous.

On the left we see Ben Mayo, who is at present writing an article for the well known magazine, "Democratic Digest", proving his motto that "women do prefer blondes".

Oh! Ladies and gentlemen—you are in for a thrill. Just entering is Carolyn Jean Johnson, novelist, whose latest book - "How We Live Happily On Pig Feet and Turnip Greens", has stirred the nation. Escorting her is the famous author and public speaker, Jennings Mangum. His latest works are "Blue Banners" and "Triumphant Obsession."

Bill Thorp and his Jive Bombers are sitting to my right. He and his group are famous as primary teachers who improve small childrens' sense of rythm with instruction in the once popular folk dance—the jitterbug.

Shirley Scott, a rising artist, has just designed a long paint brush for short painters. Just behind her is the famous lion trainer, Bob Currin, who came all the way from deepest Africa for this gala occasion. Later he will present his act to the class. He will soon join the John Exum, Jack Luper, and Frankie McCotter Circus which tours the world. Paul Bulluck and Jacqueline Tanner are the featured trapeze act.

Now, a thrill for the ladies of the audience—just entering are the two most handsome heartbreakers in Hollywood, Needham Carter and Howard Turner. It seems strange that the two rivals are together. Howard's latest picture is "All This and Women too". Be sure and see it. It is thought that he will receive the Academy Award for his performance in this film.

Betty Murchison, heiress of the Pink Cucumber estate, has just received sixty million dollars from a rich uncle. She spent three million last week on a new invention. She amuses herself with a radio program. Her theme song is "How Long Will It Last?"

Patsy Barber founder of "Miss Barber's Academy for Young Ladies" is talking to Clara Fenner. They seem to be very absorbed in something. Patsy must be interested in Clara's new book on etiquette called "Joe Blow I'm Sure."

George Valentine, Rocky Mount High School's present football coach, is discussing a new play with Gilbert Bullard, famous star of the Metropolitan Opera. They used to play on the same football team.

Sitting in a corner with his head buried in a book, is Wiley Johnson, who has just discovered a new idea about Einstein's theory.

Susan Thorp, bridal counselor, who writes the new syndicated column, "Dearest Darling," seems to be advising Nancy Dozier, New York model. I guess Nancy just can't decide which one to marry.

Here come a funny contraption. Oh I beg your pardon, Billy Meeks. I see you have your new walking radio invention. I hope later you'll show us how it works. Billy has been working on this ever since he studied radio under Mr. Edison.

There's Joe Purvis just coming in with two lovely ladies on his arms. Joe, you know, has the largest laundry in Washington, D. C. He cleans all the clothes for the President, his Cabinet, the Senate and The House of Representatives. Let's see—who's that with him? I believe it's Veronica Longest, alias Jane Longest, cinema star, and Dot Thompson who just flew her plane back from the planet Superman, which she discovered a year ago.

It's getting to be quite crowded here. People are pouring in faster. It's really a very large class.

There's a famous swimmer, Nancy Gorham, who has just recently won world fame as the first woman to swim the Atlantic. Walking just behind her is Norman Vick. His beauty shop, "Vick's Curly Shoppe" is one of the most popular in New York.

My goodness! What is this coming? Dear me—Oh, I see, it's Margaret Cockrell and her kindergarden class. Why, Margaret, they've all got red hair. Who's that she has stopped to talk to? It's Dot Grey and Katherine House. They're both in Radio City Rockets. They have certainly done well as chorus girls. Dot has two pent houses in Raleigh, North Carolina.

Jacob Alexander is here in the middle section. Jacob has broken the record for milking cows. I think he milked ten cows in five minutes. Who is that he's waving to? Why, it's Edwin Capps. That's queer; they used to be awful enemies. Edwin only milked seven cows in five minutes.

Norma Cuthrell and Allegra Johnson are sitting over there chatting. Norma must be telling Allegra about her teaching at Duke. You know she lectures on the subject of "Why Go To Sleep?" I'll bet Allegra has plenty to tell her on that subject. She is President of the Softie, Softie Mattress Company.

There's Robert Hale and Harold Drummond. They collaborated on an idea to make the leaves grow pink and blue. Their idea proved successful. Now we see all up and down the avenue beautiful pink and blue trees. Who would have thought 10 years ago that such a thing could have happened?

What's all that commotion over there? Why, it's Lou Allie King and Mamie McLemore. My goodness, why doesn't someone see what's the matter. Now I see the trouble. Lou Allie said she typed 400 words per minute. Mamie said she didn't; she said that she typed faster than Lou Allie ever could. I guess they'll get it straightened out after a bit.

Excuse me just a moment, Ladies and Gentlemen—what?—oh yes, of course—Ladies and Gentlemen, that was G. C. Price asking me to announce that he'd lost one of his pet gorillas, and if anyone found it to please notify him. G. C. has had hard luck lately. It seems that all the animals in his zoo are escaping. Last week he lost two giraffs. They stuck their necks out too far.

Who are those three over there who keep looking at peoples' feet? They're Carson Dunning, Earl Mintz and Joe Alsbrook. They own a tremendous shoe string factory in Chicago, their motto being—"String along with us."

Here come a very striking figure. Let's see—of course, that's Jean Williams. But what's that on her head? Oh, I forgot, Jean designs hats.

There's Mrs. Lemmie Ingram, alias Annie Hartley. Who is she talking to? It's Anna Mae Hoell. Anna Mae gives advice to perplexed mothers. Annie must be having trouble with Lemmie, Jr.

Mildred Read is standing over by the side door talking to Alton Johnson. Mildred gained her present position with the Foreign Police Association of New York by her ability to talk more rapidly than the average foreigner. Alton founded the "You lose it—we find it" Bureau.

Elizabeth Mangum, Hazel Holmes, and Katherine Gibson are coming toward the front of the auditorium. For the past three years they've been exploring the ruins of Japan. I'm told they've found some very valuable relics of the dead civilization.

Mary Day and Katherine Knight are just getting started. They run a large restaurant at Grand Central Station for hungry hoboes. Their motto is "Day or Knight" we serve.

Ben Aycock has made millions with his new idea—if you're feeling down and out just call "The Nickle Tickle Bureau", and Ben will tell a joke for a nickle.

Mrs. Clara Price, alias Kathleen Dawes, and her husband have just published a very interesting book, "How To Live On Love".

Here comes someone I know you've all heard about. It's Junior Hayes with his "Hayes Daredevils". He hurt his ankle the last time he jumped off the Empire State Building, but he made a quick recovery. Three other boys that were in this class helped him in performing his stunts, Bob Chadwick, Gene Webb and Roscoe Wheelless. They performed for the Rocky Mount Worlds' Fair two years ago.

Millard Dozier flew all the way from the South Sea Islands for this gathering. He got started there in the last war—liked it so much he stayed. He has a big sugar plantation there.

Who is that over there spraying her throat? It's the famous concert artist, Eileen Boyd. She's going to entertain us later.

Helen Gurganus, now known as Twinkle Toes Gurganus, is a well known ballet dancer. She is outstanding for her portrayal of an ostrich in the production. "Soap and Water."

Julia Johnston is our next arrival. Julia is a popular interior decorator with the Park Avenue set. Lately she did over the Gold Room in the White House. Just behind her is Clyde Britt, owner of the largest truck line in the nation. Clyde also owns a factory for making kiddie cars for youngsters.

Earl Wooten is our next arrival. Earl has made millions with his plan for building big strong bodies. Earl harnessed some live vitamins which, when administered, have outstanding results.

Just taking her seat on my left, is Jean Faircloth, North Carolina's best known poetess. I think she's had 360 volumes of poetry published this year. That's quite a record.

The next young lady we see is certainly well know to all of you ladies who buy the well known "Dorothy Mitgett" frocks for young girls. Behind her is her best known stylist, Marguerite Ricks.

Here comes a very executive looking person. It's Madelyn Knowles, editor of the New York Times. Beside her is her reporter, Billy Carter.

John Hinnant, heavy weight champion of the world just came in with his manager, Marjory Sexton. I've heard a rumor that Marjory is responsible for his success.

For those interested in horses, our next arrivals should prove of great interest. They are Evelyn Works and Harvey Thomas. They own a tremendous race track in Florida. It is the most beautiful track in the United States.

David Spence is just coming in. David owns all the Spence theatres in North Carolina. I believe they total about two thousand, the largest being in Sharpsburg, N. C. Gertrude Millard, professor of English at the Kyser University here in Rocky Mount, is coming in with Buck Staton, present principal of Rocky Mount High School.

Dot Wheelless, president of the Wheel-less Automobile factory, is seated in the left aisle with some very well known people, Neill Nelson, John Poplin, and A. J. English. All of you movie fans know them. They play in the thrilling movie serial, "The Six Fisted Cowpunchers."

Gretchen Burnette, well known beauty consultant and Edith Mooring, rising portrait painter, just arrived with Hassell Weeks, who has developed a banana with a skid-proof peeling.

Pauline Lamm runs a big night club in Elm City. She has the best floor show and food in North Carolina. Her star orchestra leader is Bill Warren, who took Gene Krupa's place. Also for your entertainment, Webb Hunt and Caswell Nugent put on their mystic magic act. They can make anything disappear.

Sparkey Maxwell now owns a large chain of drug stores. Emily Greene is teaching Home Economics at W. C. U. N. C. She came in with another member of W. C.'s faculty, Edith Lundy. Edith teaches physical education.

George Pennington has a radio program every Tuesday night over WEED. His funny jokes acquire him millions of new admirers every week.

Standing in the lobby are Billy Lawrence, Bobby Andrews and Meddie Parker. They've just made the important discovery that automobiles don't have to have a motor to run. It seems the car runs with some sort of implements called bobby-pins.

Why there's a large group over there I almost missed. Let's see who is in it—Frances Ferguson, who is the Ambassador to Brazil, Violet Butler, who has developed a new kind of mouse trap that actually talks the mouse into giving up its life. And there's Frances Ford, too. She owns a large gold mine in Utah. Also in that group is the well known radio team, Taylor and Glover. Jack and Milton took the Lone Ranger's place on the radio. Jack plays the part of the Lone Ranger and Milton, Tonto.

Here comes the famous roller skater, Tommy Thurmond, who does his act with only one wheel on a skate.

Inez Barnette is just taking her seat. She is the private secretary to the President of the United States.

Betty Short and Constance Hughes just sat down in the right section. Betty and Constance have a school of charm in New York.

Carlton Powell just joined Bill Warren. Carlton plays in Bill's band. For a sideline Carlton also does a knife Throwing Act.

William Bell, who is the owner of the largest private railroad center in the world, has just collaborated with Carl Bateman and Earl Baker in a plan to provide the nation with wolf exterminators.

In the very back of the auditorium are three attractive young ladies, Evelyn Woods, Reba Stancil and Ruby Fryar. You may not have known it but these three are the trio that introduces the radio program, "Why Johnny Left Home."

Margaret Smith, the greatest lady wrestler, and Vivian Davis, who is the director of the United States Mint, are seated near the front with Tom Davis, whose factories make the "cuddly, cuddly bears" your little children play with.

Hilton Davis now owns Kelly's, a large drive-in located just on the outskirts of Rocky Mount.

In walks Major Williamson, mayor of the City of Rocky Mount. Major has just laid the corner stone for the addition to the High School which will cover the remainder of the campus. The money for the addition was donated by Bennie Lewis, owner of the Inhalum Cigarette Factory. Zenith Leonard is now posing for the ads of that company.

Louise Greene and Geneva Fields are owners of the Greene, Fields Summer Resort on Hunters Hill.

Betty Sietter's column, "Advice to Those Who Are Not Lovelorn," appearing in the magazine Watts Cooking, published by Ruth Watts, sitting in the left section with Carolyn Moore, Ray Gray, and Vivian Beard of the Moore, Gray Beard Hair Dye Co.

Mildred Vick, owner of the Vick's Glow Drops Company, arrived a few minutes ago with Archie Henry, demonstrator of the new Peroxide Tint.

I'm sure you've all heard of the Billy Sutton, Jeff Bulluck Show, "Two Men in a Tub." We hear that it rubs the audience in the right way. Backers of the show are Florine Walker and Joyce Williams of the "Killum Quick Flea Soap" concern.

Fay Strickland and Mack Livesay, originators of the popular dance the Flitter Cricket, which took the place of the jitterbug, are sitting with Eunice Walker, Virginia Bedgood, Jean Hearn, Betty Smith, Dora Shagena, Vivian Robards and Elizabeth Edwards, seven young ladies who are internationally famous counterespies.

Laurette Chaplin, is the leader of this group of counterespies.

I'm returning you now to the World Broadcasting Station. I wish I had the time to broadcast the entire meeting to you, but I see my time is up. So until next week at this same time, I am your correspondent signing off.

STUDENT GOVERNMENT

Student participation in government enables the pupils of this high school to learn and practice the ideals of democratic government. From their experience, they prepare themselves to assume the larger responsibilities presented by the right of self government in our nation. Both leaders and followers are developed through this system, students who may represent us in later years in a more important Congress.

Playing host this year to the North Carolina State Student Council Congress, the high school successfully entertained delegates from the other schools of the state. At this meeting, the problems of "Youth in the War" were discussed. From these talks and discussion groups, many beneficial ideas and plans were gathered, accomplishing the purpose of the Congress—to face the problems which confront high school students and make plans to solve them intelligently.

The successful completion of this year is proof that great things can be accomplished by the students through their participation in the government of the high school.

Although the Blackbird staff has been working under unavoidable difficulties this year, the paper is still eagerly awaited and received by the students.

The size and cost of the paper was reduced this year, but the enthusiasm of the staff and subscribers has not dwindled.

HI-NOC-AR

THE SENIOR GIRLS' HI-Y

The Hi-Y club stands for pure thinking, clean living, and good bodies. In this triad, they set forth the qualities necessary for winning the war and the peace to follow. By building character, they are providing capable leaders for the United States in the future.

"Help the Other Fellow" is the motto of the Hi-Y. This year the club gave money to the Service Men's Organization booth, to provide food for the men of the armed forces who come through Rocky Mount.

Individually, the girls are buying War Bonds and Stamps to further the war effort. Many of the members roll bandages and knit for the Red Cross. This Hi-Y club strives to spread its ideals through the school, thus influencing the other girls who are not members.

THE JUNIOR GIRLS' HI-Y

The symbol of the Hi-Y Clubs is a triangle. One side represents the physical developments of the member, the other side stands for the mental and spiritual development of the girl.

The purpose expressed by the Club's ritual is to "create, maintain, and extend, throughout the school and community high standards of Christian character."

Through the varied program of the club, the girl becomes interested in different activities. Although the spiritual development is stressed, social functions are given by the organization. All of this makes the members well-rounded individuals with many interests.

SPORTS

With a new coach this year, and only one at that, the Blackbird teams have been more than successful. The football squad, led by tri-captains, Valentine, Bullard, and Turner, met with several setbacks, but it was one of the scrappiest teams seen on the local girdiron in several years.

Although the basketball team did not win all of its games, it was far from a failure. Hampered by losses and a lack of reserves, Coach Caruso had a potential winner, which was a credit to the school.

The baseball squad, just beginning its season at this time, promises to be equally as impressive an agregation as the football and basketball squads.
